GREATEST ATHLETE IS MARTIN SHERIDAN

Irish-American Club Member Has Established a Wonderful Record.

KELLY IS BEST TRACK MAN

Titus Ranks First Among American List of Intercollegiate Championship Winners—Yale Looks Best.

Martin Sheridan, of the Irish-American Athletic Club, holds the palm as the greatest all-around athlete of the year 1906. He established an all-around record of 6,800 points, a mark that will probably stand for many years. Besides this, Sheridan broke the world's record for the discus throw, and was largely instrumental in gaining a victory for the American team at the Olympic games in Athens. It is true that T. F. Kelly won the American all-around championship at Boston, but Sheridan did not compete and Kelly's form was far below Sheridan's.

John Flanagan, another of the Irish-American Athletic Club's stars, who holds the world's record for throwing the sixteen-pound hammer, won that event in the senior championship held at Travers Island on September 1. On that occasion Flanagan made a throw of 106 feet 6 1/2 inches.

Kelly's Good Record.
In track athletics Dan Kelly, of Portland, Ore., made a world's record for the hundred yards. He negotiated the distance in nine and three-fifths seconds in a race at Spokane, Wash., on June 23. On the same day he ran 220 yards in 21-1/5 seconds. His record was accepted by the Amateur Athletic Union, and stamps him as the fastest amateur in the world. A. F. Duffy, the only other man ever to run 100 yards in that time, being branded a professional, thus leaves Kelly in a class by himself.

Constantine E. Titus again came to the front in the rowing world by winning the national championship senior scull race on Quinsigamond Lake, Worcester, Mass., on August 11. He defeated Fred Shephard, of the Boston Rowing Club, in two other victories. Titus is a member of the international and the intermediate four-oared shell races.

In pugilistics there was little really accomplished in the year 1906. Abe Attel successfully defended his title. Melody Melody became the welterweight champion, and Joe Gans won a great fight from Battling Nelson on a foul in the forty-second round of their battle at Madison Square Garden. The other fights were what might be called second-class affairs, not excepting the O'Brien-Burns contest at Los Angeles.

Yale Appears the Best.

Yale won the football laurels for the year, though Old Eli was not able to score against Princeton. The showing of the New Haven players during the season was better than that of the Tigers, and it was generally conceded that Capt. Sam Morse's team earned the title of supremacy.

Of the Eastern universities, Yale teams carried off the greatest number of championships, though very hard pressed by Pennsylvania. The Elis won four outright and tied for a fifth. Pennsylvania was first in three championships and tied with Yale for the fourth. Counting a championship as 1 point, the scores of the Eastern universities would read as follows: Yale, 42; Pennsylvania, 34-6; Cornell, 23-3; Harvard, 11-1; Princeton, 13; Haverford, 11-3; West Point, 1; New York University, 1; Harvard, 1, and Johns Hopkins, 1.

All of Pennsylvania's championships were won in the minor sports, while the Quakers have fostered as have few other universities. Cornell, although ranking only third in the list, has a special mention. The Ithacans were the only ones in the East to win championships in two major sports. Their teams were first in rowing by a big margin and likewise first in track athletics. In addition to this they were second in basketball and third in football. Harvard fared the poorest of the big universities, having nothing but the hockey championship.

Some Baseball Reflections.

In baseball the sensational work of the Chicago White Sox was the feature of the season of 1906. The team, under the able management of Fledler Jones, who was advised by President Charles Comiskey, made one of the greatest fights for the American League pennant honors the national game has ever known. In June the White Sox were in seventh place and were hardly figured as contenders.

Principally through the fine work of their pitchers and by playing "inside" baseball, the team worked its way to the front and beat out the New York club for the pennant. After the close of the regular season the White Sox played the Chicago National League team for the world's championship. The Cubs were 1 to 2 favorites before the series began, but the American League champions outplayed the National League at all points and won the world's championship by four games to two.

Hans Wagner of the Pittsburgh club, led the National League in batting and equaled the record held by Dan Brouthers of being the champion batsman of the league for four seasons. Wagner led in 1902, 1903, 1904, and 1905. George Stone, St. Louis, led the American League batsmen.

TIGERS TO MEET ANNAPOLIS

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 31.—Princeton and the Carle Indians will be opponents of the midshipmen in field and track athletics in the spring. Manager Lawrence H. Austin having secured dates, the contests to take place during the latter part of April or early in May.

Both dual contests will excite great interest. The Naval Academy has been showing great improvement along this line for two seasons, and Princeton is the strongest opponent which has been on the Navy's track team schedule.

PICTURE QUESTION ARISES

Champion May Keep Company From "Taking the Contest" Unless New Contracts Are Made.

By W. W. NAUGHTON.

TONOPAH, Nev., Dec. 21.—Joe Gans will hardly retire from the ring after fighting Kid Herman tomorrow, as he has threatened to do. It is a pity for his own sake; that Gans did not make up his mind to leave gambling alone when he turned from ways that are dark in pugilism. He is one of the best customers the games of chance have hereabouts, and it is said that his share of prize money, whatever it may be, is already mortgaged to the tune of $5,000.

"Playing the races" is a favorite pastime with him, and he has had hairbreadth escapes of landing winning combinations calling for large amounts.

Pictures Giving Trouble.
It is understood that the fighters and Promoter Mike Riley are involved in a little trouble over the moving picture prospect. The original understanding was that the club should have 50 per cent of photograph profits, and the boxers 25 per cent each. Gans considers the agreement entered into between Riley and the picture-taking company does not set forth the right and title of the contestants clearly enough, and wants new contracts. He threatens, if the matter is not straightened out, to secure an injunction, restraining the camera men from "taking the contest."

Apart from the bleak outlook, so far as profits for the promoters are concerned, there is a promise of a hard contest between a couple of well trained, clever fighters. Gans, despite his reputation as a fighter, is looking forward to at least a couple of contests in the Nevada gold belt, and he knows full well that defeat at the hands of Herman will relegate him to the bargain stakes.

Herman Ambitious.
Herman has all the ear marks of a clean-cut, ambitious youngster. "I would give the world to win, and I think I am going to come out on top," said the Chicago lightweight. "It is discouraging in a way to have the weight of opinion against me, but I have figured there will be all the glory for me if I defeat Gans. I hope to show the public it was holding me cheap."

Gans took a short turn on the road yesterday, and in the afternoon the champion caused the door of his gymnasium to be bolted for over an hour. Just what work the champion did, is not known, although the rattle of the belt and the sound of his brother-in-law-to-be. A trip was made to the arena, where some time was spent in wandering around the big building, where a big force of men are at work installing the lights for the moving pictures. The arena is now completed. The sports who have come in from the outside say that it is the greatest building of the kind ever erected.

INDIAN AND GREEK TO FIGHT IN PHILLY

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 31.—A bout between an Indian and a Greek will be one of the attractions at the National Athletic Club on New Year afternoon. The Indian will be Joe Greco and his opponent will be "Greek Jimmy" Ryan, who did very well in his initial bout here last week.

This is said to be the first time that an Indian and a Greek have faced each other in the ring.

On Wednesday night Jim Jeffords and Morris Harbo will meet at the Wayne Athletic Club to decide the heavyweight championship of Pennsylvania. Manager Bealey, of the Broadway Athletic Club, announces an all-star show on Thursday night.

COMISKEY SAYS NO TOMFOOLERY FOR HIM

CHICAGO, Dec. 31.—Although Chubby Charley Murphy has made arrangements to cover the horses that draw the Chicago Cubs to and from the grounds in various cities outside New York and Brooklyn with blankets inscribed with farling letters, Owner Comiskey declares that the world's champion White Sox will not indulge in such tomfoolery.

"As long as Murphy's Cubs are going to use the blanket I'm satisfied," said Comiskey the other day. "That will make the other people think that the White Sox are champions of the world. I don't believe in this circus business. I all the Sox will not swell up because they beat the Cubs, for it isn't necessary to blow one's own horns."

THOMAS HUESTON NOW AMERICAN POOL CHAMP

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 31.—Thomas Hueston, of St. Louis, won the title of champion pool player of America Saturday night from Jerome Keogh, of Buffalo.

Keogh showed greatly improved form, but Hueston's lead in the first two games was too big to overcome. The score for the night was: Hueston, 13; Keogh, 10; and the total for three nights: Hueston, 60; Keogh, 57.

RICH FUTURITY HAS THOUSAND ENTRIES

List for Famous Kentucky Fixture Is Close Up on the Record.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 31.—Secretary Horace Wilson, of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association, announces that 973 foals have made the December payment in the seventeenth annual renewal of the rich Kentucky futurity, for foals of 1906, which represents a little over 85 per cent of the original list of 1,200 names nominated last March. This number of foals, while not the largest ever named in the history of the futurity, is close up to the record, and is much larger than the entries received in any of the other colt stakes.

The largest nominator, as usual, is Walnut Hill Farm, of M. K. Harkness, located at Donerall, Ky., which has sent more futurity winners to the post than any other breeding farm in America. Seventy-seven of its royally bred youngsters, by Walnut Hill, Moko, Hobel, and other noted stallions, and including full brothers and sisters to Brandy York, Ruppert, are well established. Following are the list of breeders, naming five or more foals:

Empire Farm Next.
Next comes the famous Empire City Farm, of William Simpson & Sons, the home of McKinney, which names 35 colts and fillies, the most famous of which is probably a strapping brown colt by McKinney, out of Lady Rivers, and, therefore, a full brother to Sweet Marie, the queen of racing trotters.

Third in line is the Allen Farm, of the Native, Perena, Jesse, Benyon, and other stakes winners, are named by this farm.

The Bard and several high class mares belonging to the late A. J. Cassatt, are not at the Berwyn, Pa., farm, as was supposed, but instead are located at Woodburn Farm, Kentucky.

Lawrence O'Brien leaves for Tombstone, Ariz., today, where he will remain until his health returns. He has

COFFROTH TO MANAGE BRITT.
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 31.—Jimmy Coffroth, one of the members of the weakest right flyer, has branched out as a manager of fighters, and has succeeded Willie Britt as the manager of Jimmy Britt, the famous lightweight.

Coffroth says that he took charge of Britt only at the latter's urgent request.

Personal Comment on Men and Things in the Field of Sports

BASEBALL.
John J. Carney is still among the unlocated for next season.

Scranton, Pa., would be a good berth for a manager of the caliber of Tom McDermott.

Fred Lake is booked to captain Mike Finn's Little Rock team and do the bulk of the catching.

The veteran Tom Brown, once an outfielder, will doubtless umpire in some league next season.

The Indianapolis club is counting upon Gilbert of the New Yorks as a possibility for second base next season.

Says the veteran N. E. Young: "In horning Messrs. Seien and Chant the old league did credit and honor to itself."

Connie Mack says that Pitcher Donahue got a bargain in the saloon business he picked up in Philadelphia for $15,000.

Secretary Charles Fredericks, as well as President Comiskey, received one of the world's championship souvenir medals.

McGraw has McGinn, Gilbert, Mullen, Hannifan, Strang, Corcoran, Shay, Dahlen and Devlin from which to pick an infield.

Mike Kelley will take dire revenge if he succeeds in putting a stop to Sunday ball in St. Paul and Minneapolis, as he is trying to do.

The octogenarian Henry Chadwick is passing the holidays at Sag Harbor with his grandchildren, and is accompanied by his wife, who, he says, is only eighty-seven, "you must know."

Pitcher Jack Chesbro writes that he is enjoying the pleasures of a fine New England winter, and hopes to report in fine shape in the spring and do as good work as he ever did in his career.

It looks very much as if the outfield of the New York Nationals next season would consist of Bonin in right, McGraw refused an offer to trade Browne for Joe Kelley, Corcoran and a cash bonus.

Harry Steinfield has an extra incentive offered him to lead the National League batsmen next season. The mayor of Bellevue, Ky., where Steinfield now resides, has promised to appoint him a city inspector if he finishes in front of the league's sluggers. A very safe offer that.

Johnny Kling, the catcher of the Chicago Cubs, is prepared to challenge for the pool championship emblem, now held by Jerome Keogh, of Buffalo.

Kling has opened a poolroom in Kansas City, and is night playing manager. The National League is expected to list him in front of the league's sluggers. A very safe offer that.

TROTTER.
Thomas Collins, of Germantown, the owner of Nancy Frank and Toss, has purchased of D. J. McMahon, the famous road horse, Duval Epaulat, 2:24, to road wagon. He has been miles over the Belmont track in 2:14, and was sired by Epaulat, out of Camille, 2:30, by Happy Medium. The price paid was $1,000.

The Bard and several high class mares belonging to the late A. J. Cassatt, are not at the Berwyn, Pa., farm, as was supposed, but instead are located at Woodburn Farm, Kentucky.

Lawrence O'Brien leaves for Tombstone, Ariz., today, where he will remain until his health returns. He has

FIELD FOR CORNELL

Ithacans Planning Grounds That Will Eclipse Those of Any Other College.

ITHACA, N. Y., Dec. 31.—The report of the Cornell alumni field committee, which was sent out this week to the alumni of that university, shows that the largest and most extensive athletic field of any American university is being projected at Ithaca, and that this will be entirely finished before two more football seasons have passed.

The old Percy field, now in use, is a couple of miles from the university campus and very inconvenient. The new athletic field, as it will be called, is situated on the eastern edge of the campus, and will be next door to the classrooms, so that the Cornell teams of the future will be able to get out a great many more men in competition for their various athletic squads.

Money Already Raised.
The project is being pushed with all vigor. One hundred and fifty thousand dollars of the necessary $400,000 is now being raised among the alumni to carry on the work in the immediate future.

The general scheme of the Alumni Field project of Cornell is to have an immense playground, where the entire student body will have an area of daily outdoor exercises, in addition to the provisions for the variety athletes.

When the present Alumni Field is completed Cornell will have an area of sixty-six and three-tenths acres devoted to athletics, including the playground area and the space for variety athletes.

Cornell will also have the largest playground in the world, and a general athletic development of the student body as a whole. The Ithacans will devote 21.6 acres to this purpose.

Cost $400,000.
The enormous cost of this undertaking is at present estimated at $400,000, but it is probable that the final figures will be greatly in excess of that amount, and will, at least, pass the $500,000 mark.

The various items for which an estimate has been made in the future development of Alumni Field are as follows: Stadium and winter running track, $80,000; training house, $75,000; baseball stands, $10,000; supplementary stands, $5,000; roads and paths, $10,000; walls and fences, $5,000; painting trees, shrubs, etc., $5,000; drainage and grading, $5,000; entrances, steps, etc., $25,000; club house, $10,000; and miscellaneous, $30,000; total $350,000.

In addition to the above sum, $40,000 has already been spent in grading and seeding the part now finished.

The annual report of the treasurer of the Army Athletic Association, which handles West Point sports, shows receipts for 1906 to be $9,491.01, and expenditures of $3,345.17. There is a balance of $6,145.84 to the new season.

The football expenses are the heaviest, but needless to say the Army eleven would make big money did it get in any revenue from gate receipts. The report follows:

The E. A. C. rosters should not get discouraged because their team has not won a game. It's the rooting that puts in the New York stock exchange, as with Dunn back, will line up as follows: Dunn and James, forwards; Moffit, center, and Burlingame and Rickenbacker, guards. That sounds good on paper.

COLLEGE ATHLETICS.
Yale, it is said, will not send a crew to the next American Henley, to be held on the Schuylkill at Philadelphia, on May 27. The reason given is that Yale will be too busy with other rowing plans.

Joseph Walker & Sons have issued a circular to the stockholders of the Lehigh Valley, soliciting proxies for use at the annual meeting of the company, on January 15. The firm and its following the desirability of having its stock listed on the New York stock exchange, as they believe this would enhance its value, by giving it a much larger market, and the directors are expected to list the stock on the New York exchange.

James J. Hill will retire from active business July 1, 1907, the announcement comes from Mr. Hill, himself, who fixed the date. Mr. Hill is quoted as follows:

"I have planned to retire as soon as I am safely out of the work of a lifetime, the annual income on a safe, sound basis will endure."

Mr. Hill may act in an advisory capacity after that time, but all official duties of the management of the Hill properties will be shifted to his son, Louis J. Hill.

IRON MAN M'GINNITY SOLD TO ST. LOUIS

The rumor will not down that Manager McGraw is trying to effect a trade by which Iron Man McGinnity will go to the St. Louis Nationals in exchange for Pitcher Buster Brown.

It is said that the deal hangs fire because the St. Louis manager has demanded an exorbitant amount of cash for McGinnity, and that McGraw is unwilling to enter the box out of his turn and has worked loyally and strenuously for his employers. With McGraw in Brooklyn, New York, the Iron Man has been a consistent, pains-taking boxman, at the same time materially helping the St. Louis team to win National League pennants.

Accounts Correct.
The above accounts were audited and found correct:

"C. R. Lawson, first lieutenant, Artillery Corps; G. E. Carlton, first lieutenant, Artillery Corps; W. R. Bettison, first lieutenant, Artillery Corps; Capt. Halstead Dorey, fourth infantry, has been appointed assistant treasurer and secretary for the Philippines, but it is too early as yet to hear from him. Very respectfully,

W. R. SMITH, Treasurer."

West Point sports are being promoted by contributions, concerning which the treasurer's statement also contains the following:

A man named Moon was badly cut about the face, near Tescoit, Kan., the other day in a collision with a wire clothesline. All accounts agree that he was sober. The wire caught him squarely in the mouth and practically doubled the circumference of that important organ, qualifying Mr. Moon as an expert in the art of first-class minstrel show, as his mouth now extends from a point half an inch below the jaw to the right ear to another point midway between the chin and the left eyebrow.
